Portfolio profile

The portfolio aims to preserve capital, but provide returns in excess of that offered by a traditional money market portfolio. The mandate is, however, more flexible and the average portfolio duration will be longer than that of traditional money market portfolios. The portfolio complies with Regulation 28 of the South African Pension Funds Act.

1) The annualized total return is the average return earned by an investment each year over a given time period. Performance is calculated for the portfolio and individual investment performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Due to the delayed release of inflation data, relevant benchmarks will lag by one month.
Data source: © Morningstar Inc. All rights reserved.

2) Total Expense Ratio (TER), expressed as a percentage of the Fund, relates to expenses incurred in the administration of the Fund. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. Transaction Costs (TC), expressed as a percentage of the Fund, relate to the costs incurred in buying and selling the underlying assets of the Fund. TC are a necessary cost in administering the fund and impact fund returns. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by other factors over time including market returns, the type of fund, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER. The Total Investment Charges expressed as a percentage of the Fund, relates to all investment costs of the Fund. Both the TER and TC of the Fund are calculated on an annualised basis, beginning 01/10/2014 and ending 30/09/2017

Investment manager commentary Taquanta Asset Management

Growth in developed and most, larger emerging economies continued to gather momentum through to the end of 2017. The US Federal Reserve hiked the Fed funds rate by 25bps to 1.25%-1.50% as expected. The Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) lifted its outlook on growth and left its outlook for inflation unchanged. The Fed still expects three more hikes in 2018. The US CPI increased to 2.2% year-on-year from 2.0% previously. The US PPI also increased to 3.1% year-on-year from 2.8%. In the UK, CPI surprised to the upside; 3.1% year-on-year from 3.0% previously, while core inflation remained unchanged at 2.7%. The main reasons for the higher inflation were food, housing, transport and communication prices.

Locally, headline GDP growth came in at a seasonally adjusted and annualised rate of 2.0% quarter-on-quarter in Q3 (higher than market expectations) from 2.8% quarter-on-quarter, the previous quarter. The largest contributors to the quarterly growth came from the primary sectors of the economy, most notably agriculture, forestry and fishing which increased by a seasonally adjusted and annualised 44.2% quarter-on-quarter. The combination of a post drought recovery and a strong maize harvest continued to deliver strong growth in agricultural gross value added. On the political front, Deputy President Cyril Ramaphosa was elected President of the African National Congress (ANC) in the face of increasing political challenges.

South Africa's CPI inflation moderated to 4.6% year-on-year from 4.8% in October. The rate slowed more than the market expectation of 4.7% year-on-year. The main driving factor behind the CPI outcome was the lower fuel price increases compared to the previous month. Food price inflation continued to slow down to 5.0% year-on-year from 5.3% and from double digit growth in 2016. Core inflation also came in lower than market expectation; it reduced to 4.4% year-on-year (lowest level since May 2012) from 4.5% the previous month. Contrary to market expectations, PPI inflation increased slightly to 5.1% year-on-year from to 5.0% in October 2017.

Private sector credit extension (PSCE) surprised to the upside, beating market consensus of 5.9%. PSCE increased to 6.45% year-on-year from 5.43% the previous month and was the biggest increase since May 2017. Money supply (M3) increased to 6.61% year-on-year from 5.01% the month before.

Markets have had some time to digest the win by Cyril Ramaphosa as president of the ANC and the new NEC's top 6. Looking ahead and to avoid a downgrade by Moody's in 2018, the February 2018 budget would need to show a return of fiscal discipline by cutting expenditure and stabilising debt to GDP by 2019/20. The rand rallied on the back of Mr Ramaphosa's win and with this the inflation expectations should reduce in the coming months. Our interest rate view is for interest rates to remain flat to decreasing in the face of lower inflation expectations, uncertain political outcomes and currency risk. The fund is well positioned to take advantage of the uncertain times ahead

The Nedgroup Investments Core Income Fund delivered a gross return of 0.67% for December 2017.

Please note an important change that will be effective January 2018. Fund commentary will be produced on a quarterly basis, moving from the current monthly cycle, to provide an enhanced analysis of the fund over a longer period.
